

New Editor Selected for Environmental History

By Steven Anderson, Forest History Society

ASEH and the Forest History Society recently named Mark Cioc, Professor of History, University of California – Santa Cruz, as the editor-elect for their jointly published journal Environmental History (EH). He will assume the editor-elect's duties on January 1, 2005 and will become editor on January 1, 2006, when current editor Adam Rome steps down. Cioc's first journal issue will be January 2006.

The Search Committee included Jeffrey Stine, chair, and Steven Anderson, Tom Dunlap, Alice Ingerson, Hal Rothman, Julidta Tarver, and Douglas Weiner. Applications were solicited beginning in Fall 2003 and interviews were conducted with six candidates in Spring 2004. Following approval by the Boards of the FHS and ASEH of the Search Committee's recommendation, the University of California – Santa Cruz committed substantial resources to support Cioc's tenure as editor.

Cioc received a B.S. and M.A. in History from the University of Wyoming in Laramie and a Ph.D. in History from the University of California – Berkeley in 1986. He served as Assistant Professor, History, University of Massachusetts – Amherst from 1987-1989 and started his career at the University of California – Santa Cruz as Assistant Professor of History in 1989, becoming Associate Professor in 1991. From 1994-1998 he served as Provost of Stevenson College, University of California – Santa Cruz.

Cioc has served on the EH editorial board since 1993 and was associate editor from 1996 to 2001. During the last ten years he has supervised numerous Ph.D. dissertations and refereed manuscripts and articles for various university presses and journals in the U.S. and Europe. He is currently co-editing two anthologies: How Green Were the Nazis? (accepted by the Ohio University Press to appear in 2005) and Mapping Time: A Reader for Big History, under review by the University of California Press. His most recent book The Rhine: An Eco-Biography, 1815-2000 was published in 2002 by the University of Washington Press.

"An editor operates more behind the scenes than in the spotlight," Cioc explained recently. At the same time, he recognizes that an editor is "uniquely positioned to observe where the field is heading and to nudge it occasionally in one direction or another." He intends to build on the tradition and successes of Hal Rothman and Adam Rome of welcoming submissions from a wide variety of scholars and in publishing articles in environmental history with transnational themes and cross-disciplinary approaches. He would also like to see the journal add an abstract at the beginning of each article and expansion to six articles per issue.

Dr. Cioc can be contacted at the Department of History, Stevenson Academic Services, University of California – Santa Cruz, 1156 High Street, Santa Cruz, CA 95064-1077, 831.459.3817, <cioc@ucsc.edu>.

Mark Cioc

Photo, courtesy R. R. Jones

ASEH Accepted into American Council of Learned Societies

In May of this year, the American Council of Learned Societies voted to accept ASEH as a member. Founded in 1919, the Council is a private non-profit federation of nearly 70 national scholarly organizations. The Council is well known for its programs of fellowships and grants for research in the humanities and social sciences as well as for its pilot projects in teaching and education. Its mission is "the advancement of humanistic studies in all fields of learning in the humanities and the social sciences and the maintenance and strengthening of relations among the national societies devoted to such studies."

The Council consists of a fifteen-member Board of Directors and one Delegate from each constituent society. An elected Board of Directors establishes and reviews policies, sets strategic directions, oversees the investment of endowed funds, and reports on all major decisions to the constituent societies. The Council holds an Annual Meeting, elects officers and members of the Board of Directors, provides general and fiscal oversight, and, assisted by the Executive Committee of the Delegates, admits new members. The principal administrative officer of each society participates in the Conference of Administrative Officers (CAO). In 2004, Lisa Mighetto will serve in that role.

This is a prestigious association for ASEH, and we are grateful for the efforts of our president, Doug Weiner, who submitted the application for admission last winter and followed up on the Council's request for information on ASEH.

For more information, see the Council's website at <<http://www.acls.org/welcome.htm>>.

From the President's Desk

With the phenomenally successful Victoria conference still vivid in memory, it is already time to turn our sights to our approaching sixteenth conference (by my count) in Houston. Although we met there thirteen years ago, our meeting at the Houston Warwick March 16-20, 2005 will have special resonance. Houston has been revealed as one of the geographical epicenters of the great environmental story of our time: that almost impenetrable web of oil, energy deregulation, Enron, Iraq, Halliburton, and the other momentous political events of the past four years.

Houston is shaping up to be an enormously enjoyable meeting, but it will also be a gripping, serious intellectual engagement. As a theme, Jay Taylor has pointed us back to the thorny problem of energy (many of us remember Amory Lovins's dinner talk in Denver a few years ago). And even though our discussions and analyses concern events gone by, our approaches and conclusions still bear incalculable relevance for democratic decision-making. In these times it is imperative that we work together to sustain our sense of meaning in our lifework as environmental historians, even if that is not reflected back to us by the larger society. Attending conferences is one important way by which we reaffirm our professional ethics and pride, especially when the demand curve for our "product" seems attenuated in the larger society.

Kathy Brosnan and Marty Melosi have promised cooperative weather, and we will have some magnificent field trips (although I would also love to see a field trip to Enron and Halliburton headquarters!). So get your proposals in, reserve your flights and hotel rooms, and make sure to get reservations to the awards banquet and the president's lunch (where I will attempt the death-defying feat of addressing the problem of defining the parameters of "environmental history").

Douglas Weiner

ASEH President

For more information on ASEH's Houston conference, see pages 3-5.

American Society for Environmental History

President: Douglas Weiner, University of Arizona
 Vice-President: Stephen Pyne, Arizona State University
 Secretary: Lisa Mighetto, Historical Research Associates, Inc.
 Treasurer: Mark Madison, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service

Executive Committee:

Jacqueline Corn, John Hopkins University
 Sarah Elkind, San Diego State University
 Delores Greenberg, City University of New York
 Nancy Langston, University of Wisconsin - Madison
 James McCann, Boston University
 Ted Steinberg, Case Western Reserve University
 Mart Stewart, Western Washington University

Ex Officio

Past President:

Carolyn Merchant, University of California - Berkeley
 Donald Pisani, University of Oklahoma
 Jeffrey Stine, Smithsonian Institution

The American Society for Environmental History seeks understanding of the human experience of the environment from the perspectives of history, liberal arts, and sciences. The Society encourages cross-disciplinary dialogue on every aspect of the present and past relationship of humankind to the natural environment. ASEH maintains a website at <www.aseh.net>. Contact <K.J.W.Oosthoek@newcastle.ac.uk> to discuss including material on the web page.

Items for the next newsletter should be sent by September 30, 2004 to: Lisa Mighetto, Editor, 119 Pine St., Suite 301, Seattle, WA 98101. E-mail to <mighetto@hrassoc.com>.

Other correspondence should be directed to: American Society for Environmental History, 701 Vickers Ave., Durham, NC 27701-3147.
 © 2004 American Society for Environmental History.

Printed on recycled paper.

ASEH Houston Conference March 16-20, 2005

ASEH's next conference will be hosted by the University of Houston in the energy capital of the world, at the historic Warwick Hotel. Located in the city's Museum District, the Warwick Hotel overlooks Hermann Park, the Houston Zoo, and Rice University. A new light rail line connects the hotel to downtown Houston. For more information on the Warwick, check out its website <www.warwickhotelhouston.com>.

Preliminary information on events and costs for hotel and registration is provided below. Registration information and conference programs will be mailed to all ASEH members near the end of this year. Also, check this website and ASEH News throughout the fall and winter for updates on the conference. Inquiries related to local arrangements should be directed to Kathleen A. Brosnan, local arrangements chair, at <kbrosnan@uh.edu>.

Hotel

The Warwick Hotel toll-free reservation numbers: 866.460.1532 or 800.983.6523.

Be sure to mention that your reservation is for the ASEH conference to receive the special rate of $119 (single or double) plus tax. A block of 20 rooms (single or double) has been reserved for graduate students at the rate of $59.50 plus tax. Graduate students must verify their status with i.d. when they check into the hotel.

Conference Registration

Pre-Registration:

ASEH Member:	$85
ASEH Student Member:	$40
Non-members:	$95

On-Site Registration:

ASEH Member:	$100
ASEH Student Member:	$50
Non-members:	$115

Single-day registration: $40 (pre-registration) or $50 (onsite).

Transportation

The City of Houston is served by two airports: George H.W. Bush International Airport and Hobby Airport. Houston is a hub for Continental, Southwest, and Delta Airlines. There are shuttles between both airports and the Warwick Hotel.

Field Trips

Field trips are tentatively planned for the following:

- Birding at Brazos Bend State Park
- Historic Galveston
- Armand Bayou Nature Center
- Oil Industry Landscape and Ship Channel
- NASA

Brazos Bend State Park

Armand Bayou Nature Center

Speakers

Wilma Subra, a chemist and environmental advocate who investigated the Love Canal case in New York, will serve as the banquet speaker on Saturday evening, March 19. Subra received a MacArthur Fellowship in 1999 and is president of the Subra Company, Inc. – a firm based in Louisiana. She has assisted more than 500 community groups in the United States and abroad analyzing data and identifying sources of pollutants.

A plenary session on energy is scheduled for March 17, and will include Judith Kimerling from Queens College, David Nye from Syddansk Universitet, Joseph Pratt from the University of Houston, and Heather Turcotte from UC Santa Cruz. Another session involving former directors of the National Park Service is also planned.

from Conferencee page 3

ASEH Travel Grants Available

ASEH wishes to encourage graduate students and low-income, international, and minority scholars to attend its Houston conference. The Society offers the following grants:

- Eleven travel grants of $500 each year for graduate students and low-income and international scholars who are presenting research at its annual meeting.
- Minority travel grants for minority/non-white scholars from North America, Mexico, and the Caribbean to attend its annual meetings.

If you are interested in applying for one of these travel grants, please provide the following items:

- Vitae or resume
- Short statement outlining your interests and objectives in attending the ASEH conference and your paper title if you are presenting research
- Specify all sources of funding received or applied for
- Specify which of the grants listed above you are applying for

For travel grants for graduate students and low-income and international scholars, whose research presentation has been accepted for the 2005 ASEH program in Houston, Texas, send the information requested above to:

Professor Joseph Taylor
Department of History and Geography
Simon Fraser University
8888 University Drive
Burnaby, BC
Canada V5A 1S6
E-mail address : <taylorj@sfu.ca>

For travel grants for minority/non-white scholars from North America, Mexico, and the Caribbean, who are interested in attending the 2005 ASEH meeting in Houston, Texas, send the information requested above to:

Professor Stephen Pyne
School of Life Sciences
PO Box 4701
Arizona State University
Tempe, AZ 85287-4701
E-mail address: <stephen.pyne@asu.edu>

Deadline for application: August 31, 2004.

Recipients will be notified by: September 30, 2004.

Silent Auction To Be Held In Houston, March 2005

ASEH's silent auction in Victoria, B.C. was so successful we plan to hold another one at the conference in Houston. Last year, items ranged from books to original artwork to Russian artifacts and sailing trips – all with an environmental and historical theme. Would you like to donate an item to be auctioned in Houston? If so, please contact Lisa Mighetto at <mighetto@hrassoc.com>. Proceeds benefit the ASEH endowment fund. Additional details will be available on ASEH's website this fall.

Attention Authors and Presses

ASEH's Houston conference will include a book exhibit. For more information, contact Kathleen Brosnan at <kbrosnan@uh.edu>.

Future Conferences

- ASEH Conference 2006

ASEH will meet with the Forest History Society in St. Paul, Minnesota, from March 29 – April 3, 2006. For more information, contact Local Arrangements Chair John Anfinson at <John_Anfinson@nps.gov>.

- ASEH Conference 2007

ASEH will meet in Baton Rouge in the spring of 2007.

Hosting Future ASEH Meetings

ASEH's Site Selection Committee is now soliciting proposals from individuals or groups who are interested in hosting the Annual Meeting of the ASEH in 2008 (and possibly 2009). Those interested should contact the Chair of the Site Selection Committee, Paul S. Sutter (Department of History, LeConte Hall, University of Georgia, Athens, GA 30602-1602; 706.542.2497; <sutter@uga.edu>) for a copy of the ASEH Conference Guidelines and other information. The deadline for submission of proposals for the 2008 meeting is January 15, 2005. Please keep in mind that hosting a conference requires substantial effort and time as well as significant institutional support.

Houston Conference Second Call for Posters

DEADLINE FOR SUBMISSION: SEPTEMBER 15, 2004

The program committee for the American Society for Environmental History is offering a second call for poster proposals for its March 2005 meeting in Houston, Texas. If you have already submitted a poster application, it is not necessary to submit a second application. Proposals may address any area of environmental history, but in keeping with the conference themes, the committee specifically solicits submissions examining the implications of energy across space and through time. Houston is home to major energy corporations and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and it may well epitomize the convergence of energy and space in current culture. Yet scholars who work on other times and places should not concede these themes to the twentieth century. Quests to harness nature's energy, or to claim its spaces, are unique to no period. Consumers of petroleum, nuclear, solar, and thermal energy have much to learn from the eras of sail and steam, and troubadours were singing the praises of Argonauts millennia before the phrases "astronaut," "kosmonavt," and "taikonaut" entered our lexicon.

The committee supports approaches ranging from the transnational to the personal, from policy to politics, and we encourage proposals by anthropologists, ecologists, economists, geographers, and sociologists. By seeking interdisciplinary conversations about energy, we hope to cast new light on this subject.

To submit a proposal:

go to <<http://www.h-net.org/~environ/ASEH/conferences.html>>, download the ASEH registration form from the website, follow the instructions at the top of the form, save the proposal in rtf format, and send it as an email attachment to <aseh2005@sfu.ca>.

Should you have questions, please contact any member of the program committee:

- Joseph Taylor, Chair, Simon Fraser University <taylorj@sfu.ca>
- Ted Catton, Historical Research Associates <tcotton@hrassoc.com>
- Ann Greene, University of Pennsylvania <angreene@sas.upenn.edu>
- Michael Lewis, Salisbury University <mllewis@salisbury.edu>
- Kathleen Brosnan, Ex-officio member, University of Houston <kbrosnan@uh.edu>

ASEH Awards to be Presented at Houston Conference

Submissions Due in November

ASEH will present its annual awards at the lunch banquet in Houston, March 17. This year ASEH's prize committees will evaluate submissions (published books and articles and completed dissertations) that appear between November 1, 2003 and October 31, 2004. Please send three copies of each submission by November 5, 2004 to:

Lisa Mighetto

119 Pine Street, Suite 301

Seattle, WA 98101

If you have questions, contact Lisa at <mighetto@hrassoc.com>

Summer Announcements

An Invitation to Havana

By Reinaldo Funes M.

The Second Symposium on American Environmental History: "Toward an Environmental History of Latin America and the Caribbean" will be held in Havana, Cuba from October 25-27, 2004, within the International Colloquium "José Martí: For a Culture of Nature." This meeting continues the efforts initiated in July 2003 in Santiago, Chile, when the Department of Ecological History at the University of Chile convened the First Symposium as part of the Fifty-first International Congress of Americanists.

The increasing number and quality of the environmental history studies on Latin America and the Caribbean demonstrate the need for promoting and consolidating the links between environmental historians studying the region. The October meeting in Havana will be the next step in that direction, toward coordinating the different initiatives underway in diverse academic fields in order to stimulate the study of the region's history from an environmental perspective.

In this regard, it is essential to connect the efforts not just of those who are working within the region, but also those who are doing similar work in other regions, including authors of pioneering studies as well as the increasing number of those who are doing graduate research about our countries from foreign academic institutions. The last ASEH meeting in Victoria, for example, demonstrated both the relevance achieved by environmental history studies about Latin America and the Caribbean from within the North American academy and the potential for North American scholars to collaborate professionally with their colleagues from south of the Río Bravo.

The October Havana meeting will be a great opportunity for strengthening the relationship between environmental historians of North America and those from Mexico, Central and South America, and the Caribbean. It will also provide professionals from the Western Hemisphere the opportunity to discuss their common interests with colleagues from Europe, by offering new approaches toward the environmental legacy of European colonialism in America and its footprint in the world system. We also hope to work toward the creation of a Latin American and Caribbean Society for Environmental History, open to scholars of all disciplines interested in the environmental history of our region.

North American environmental historians are thus invited to join this effort – one that will enrich the discipline with new voices from the South and consolidate its global significance. Although the formal reception of proposals closed May 31, the Organizing Committee welcomes all interested persons and encourages attendance at the meeting and participation in its debates. For further information, please contact Reinaldo Funes at <reinaldofunes@yahoo.com.mx> or Guillermo Castro at <elguille_ce@yahoo.com>.

Opportunities in Fulbright Scholar Program

The Fulbright Scholar Program is offering 37 lecturing, research, and lecturing/research awards worldwide in environmental sciences for the 2005-2006 academic year. Here is a sample of awards that may be of interest to you:

- Bahrain: All Disciplines #5402
- Bangladesh: All Disciplines #5449
- Czech Republic: Social Sciences #5246 and #5247
- Hungary: Agriculture or Environmental Sciences #5293
- Israel: Fulbright-Technion Fellowship #5417
- Japan: All Disciplines #5132
- Jordan: All Disciplines #5420
- Oman: All Disciplines: Sultan Qaboos University #5431
- Poland: All Disciplines #5348 and #5349
- Republic of Maldives: All Disciplines #5485
- Slovak Republic: Social Sciences #5376
- Ukraine: All Disciplines #5191
- United Arab Emirates: All Disciplines #5445

To learn more about a particular award listed above or other awards in the field of environmental sciences, please visit the following page on the website:

<http://www.cies.org/award_book/award2005/disc2.htm>.

Awards for both faculty and professionals range from two months to an academic year. While many awards specify project and host institution, there are a number of open "All Disciplines" awards that allow candidates to propose their own project and determine their host institution affiliation. Foreign language skills are needed in some countries, but most Fulbright lecturing assignments are in English.

The application deadline for Fulbright traditional lecturing and research grants worldwide is August 1, 2004.

U.S. citizenship is required. For information, other eligibility requirements, and online application, check the website at <www.cies.org>.

Carl Albert Congressional Research and Studies Center Visiting Scholars Program

The Carl Albert Congressional Research and Studies Center at the University of Oklahoma seeks applicants for its Visiting Scholars Program. The purpose of this program is to assist researchers by providing financial awards for on-campus work in the Center's archives. Awards are normally from $500 to $1000 to defray the cost of travel and lodging.

The Center's holdings include the papers of 53 former members of Congress, but topics cover more than just the history of that legislative body. Included in the Center's collections is information on government agriculture programs, flood control activities, water and soil conservation projects, federal-Native American relations, drought relief, and rural development and electrification. The states best represented are Oklahoma and other western states, such as California, during the twentieth century. One collection covers

from Announcements page 6

Kansas during the nineteenth century. The Center's collections are described on the World Wide Web at <<http://www.ou.edu/special/albertctr/archives/>> and in the publication titled A Guide to the Carl Albert Center Congressional Archives (Norman, Okla.: The Carl Albert Center, 1995) by Judy Day, et al., available at many U. S. academic libraries. Additional information can be obtained from the Center.

The Visiting Scholars Program is open to any applicant. Emphasis is given to those doing postdoctoral research in history, political science, and other fields. Graduate students involved in research for publication, thesis, or dissertation are encouraged to apply. Interested undergraduates and lay researchers are also invited to apply. The Center evaluates each research proposal based upon its merits, and funding for a variety of topics is expected.

No standardized form is needed for application. Instead, a series of documents should be sent to the Center, including: (1) a description of the research proposal in fewer than 1000 words; (2) a personal vita; (3) an explanation of how the Center's resources will assist the researcher; (4) a budget proposal; and (5) a letter of reference from an established scholar in the discipline attesting to the significance of the research. Applications are accepted at any time.

To obtain more information, please contact Archivist, Carl Albert Center, 630 Parrington Oval, University of Oklahoma, Norman, OK 73019. Telephone: 405. 325.5401. FAX: 405.325.6419. E-mail: <channeman@ou.edu>.

Conference

Cultures in Conflict: The Seven Years' War in North America. Shenandoah University, October 22-23, 2004.

The Seven Years' War, also known as the French and Indian War, has often been called the war for empire because the conflict redrafted the imperial map of North America and set the geographical and political pattern of the American Revolution and the political settlement it imposed on the continent. For Native Americans the conflict was more a war for the defense of homelands and the political alliances protecting them. This conference explores these issues through the history of cultural encounter, accommodation, and conflict during one of the defining events of the eighteenth century. Chaired by Warren R. Hofstra and Joseph W. Whitehorne, the conference will be keynoted by Fred Anderson and includes presentations and comments by René Chartrand, Catherine Desbarats, Jonathan Dull, Alison Games, Donald Graves, Eric Hinderaker, Woody Holton, Paul Mapp, Gregory Nobles, Dean Jacobs and Timothy Shannon. Sponsors include The Knowledge Point, Shenandoah University's History and Tourism Center; French & Indian War 250; Lord Fairfax Community College; and the Community History Project of Shenandoah University. For more information and registration materials contact: Sandy Snyder at 540-535-3543 or <SSNYDER@SU.EDU> See web page, conference tab at: <<http://www.theknowledgepoint.org>>.

American Academy of Arts & Sciences Visiting Scholars Program Post-Doctoral and Junior Faculty Fellowships, 2005-2006

Postmark Deadline: October 15, 2004

The American Academy of Arts and Sciences invites applications for research projects related to its major program areas: Humanities and Culture, Social Policy and American Institutions, Education, and Science and Global Security (see program descriptions at <<http://www.amacad.org>>). The American Academy is marking its 225th anniversary, and proposals will be especially welcome on topics that examine the impact of scientific and technological advances over the past two centuries on, for example, international relations, security, the environment, judicial decisions, business, and the humanities and the arts. Visiting Scholars will participate in conferences, seminars, and events at the Academy, while advancing their independent research. Terms of Award: $35,000 stipend for post-doctoral scholars; up to $50,000 for junior faculty.

For details, contact: The Visiting Scholars Program, American Academy of Arts and Sciences, 136 Irving Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts 02138-1996. Telephone: (617) 576-5014; FAX: (617) 576-5050; e-mail: <vsp@amacad.org>

Application information is available on the Academy's website at <<http://www.amacad.org>>.

Member News

Eric Jay Dolin's book, Political Waters: The Long, Dirty, Contentious, Incredibly Expensive but Eventually Triumphant History of Boston Harbor – A Unique Environmental Success Story, was published by the University of Massachusetts Press.

Dianne Glave received an Aron Senior Research Fellowship with the Center for Bioenvironmental Research at Tulane and Xavier Universities. She will be in residence until spring 2005 in New Orleans.

Hal K. Rothman received the 2004 Harry Reid Silver State Research Award, the highest research award at the University of Nevada – Las Vegas. In addition, his book, The Culture of Tourism, The Tourism of Culture received two awards, a Southwest Book Award for 2003 from the Border Regional Library Association and a Southwest Books of the Year Award for 2003 from the Tucson-Pima County Library. He also received the 2004 Majewski Fellowship from the University of Wyoming and the 2004 Hillard Environmental History Fellowship from the Denver Public Library.

Timothy Silver's book, Mount Mitchell and the Black Mountains: An Environmental History of the Highest Peaks in Eastern America, won the 2004 Phillip D. Reed Memorial Award for Outstanding Writing on the Southern Environment. The award is given annually by the Southern Environmental Law Center.

Call for Nominations and Volunteers

The ASEH nominating committee is currently in the process of selecting candidates for next winter's election of officers and executive committee members. ASEH members will elect a vice president/president elect, treasurer, secretary, and four executive committee members.

The nominating committee would appreciate any volunteers or nominations from the membership for these open positions. If you would like to volunteer or nominate anyone, please contact Andrew Hurley at <ahurley@umsl.edu> no later than August 31, 2004.

- In this issue ...
- Website Survey
 - ASEH Award Submissions, 2004
 - Houston Conference Call for Posters
 - Houston Conference Travel Grants Available
 - ASEH Elections Call for Nominations

American Society for Environmental History

c/o Historical Research Associates, Inc.
119 Pine Street, Suite 301
Seattle, WA 98101

ASEH Website Survey

The ASEH website on <aseh.net> has been on-line for nearly two years now – and our executive committee is considering a substantial expansion to provide more services to the environmental history community. This new site will go beyond the traditional presentation of the society, serving as a portal for the exchange of information and ideas. To tailor this portal to the needs of the ASEH membership and the environmental history community, we would appreciate it very much if you would complete this survey. All questions are optional. – Jan Oosthoek

Your response will be most helpful if received by October 1, 2004. Please mail this survey to Lisa Mighetto, HRA, 119 Pine Street, Suite 301, Seattle, WA 98101, or you may e-mail responses to <mighetto@hrassoc.com>. Alternatively you can use the on-line form on the ASEH website at <www.aseh.net>.

General Information

1. How many time have you visited ASEH's website?

- Never
- 1-2 times
- 3-10 times
- More than 10 times

2. How many times per month do you visit the website?

- Once
- Twice
- 3 to 4 times
- more than 5 times

3. How are you connected to the Internet?

- 28k8 modem
- 56k6 modem
- Cable-ISDN-ADSL (fast connection)

Value of Website

4. How do you value the information on the ASEH website?

Please rank from 1 (not useful) to 4 (very effective)

- 1 not useful
- 2 somewhat useful
- 3 effective
- 4 very effective

5. How user-friendly do you find the ASEH website?

- 1 - poor
- 2 - moderate
- 3 - good
- 4 - excellent

6. In your estimation, which are the most significant current components of the website? Select a maximum of two options.

- General Information on ASEH
- Information about Conferences
- Announcements
- Positions Open
- Course Syllabi
- Information About ASEH Prizes
- ASEH News
- Polling the Membership (as this survey is doing)
- Other: _____

from Survey reverse

Future Development

7. Would you like to be able to pay your membership fee on-line?

Yes

No

8. Would like to be able to submit abstracts and register for ASEH conferences on-line?

Yes

No

9. Should ASEH develop a resource library for teaching and research?

Yes

No

10. Which of the following would you like to see added to the website?

Environmental History

Article Library

Digitised Resources

Videos/Images

Teaching Resources

Oral Histories

Bibliographies

Membership Directory

Other:

Horizontal lines for text input.

11. In general, would you be willing to pay for services on a future ASEH site?

Yes

No

If yes, which services would you be willing to pay for?

Teaching Materials

On-line Articles

Multimedia Archive

Other:

12. Do you have additional suggestions for ways can we improve the ASEH website?

Horizontal lines for text input.