Rhodes makes final pleas for his issues

By MIKE JUNKEL

Rhodes, one of the four candidates for state comptroller, makes a final appeal in his campaign for the post.

He argues that his experience and dedication to public service make him the best choice for the position.

Rhodes emphasizes his commitment to fiscal responsibility and transparency, and promises to work diligently to ensure the state's financial stability.

He encourages voters to cast their ballots for him and emphasizes the importance of their participation in the democratic process.

Rhodes concludes by thanking his supporters and promising to continue fighting for a strong state budget and a fair tax system for all Ohioans.

Goodrich employe dies of cancer-linked chemical cancer

By MIKE SHERMAN

Charles E. Arthur, 47, a Goodrich employe, died of angiosarcoma, a rare form of cancer, last night at Elyria Hospital.

Arthur was Seriously injured in a three-vehicle crash on Rt 254 at Pearl Avenue Saturday night. He was taken to the hospital by rescue workers and died later.

"When you know the Lord, bitterness disappears," said his wife Helen. "He should be with God now."

Charley R. Beall, of Jefferson, 0., and two sisters, Mrs. Evelyn Bittner and Mrs. Mildred Smith, of Akron, attended the funeral held yesterday.

"He was a veteran of the Korean War," said his wife. "He leaving behind three children and a sister."
